

Scarecrow collection!

SINGER-SONGWRITER John Craigie will headline a show in South Yorkshire later this month.

The gig at The Leadmill on Saturday, January 25, will feature music from his upcoming album, Scarecrow, which is due to be released on Tuesday, April 21.

Songs on the full length album were originally written for Craigie's No Rain, No Rose, which was released in 2017.

But he decided they did not fit alongside the other music on the album, which was slower and softer in tone.

The album is completely analogue and was recorded live onto a two-inch tape, mastered and pressed to vinyl.

Craigie is known for his unique and often comedic live performances..

He has also caught the attention of celebrities such as Chuck Norris, who sent him fan mail, fellow American singer Todd Snider who delivered him a gift on stage, and Jack Johnson, who heard him on the radio and invited him to open for him.

Tickets are priced at £9 and available from <https://www.leadmill.co.uk/>.
